Nevada's Boom.

We see a good deal of late about booming Nevada, but somehow she don't boom. It is like trying to fly a boy's paper kite with a log chain for a tail. There appears to be somewhere a power that will not let her boom, neither in mines nor anything else.—Enterprise.

That power is the old foggy Silurian element that must be killed off to save the State.

ARLINGTON HOUSE BLOCK
CARSON CITY, NEVADA

ALL SORTS.

—Wizard Oil at Geo. Thaxter's.
—Frank Jellerson is in the city.

—Fred Hart is writing on the Sacramento Star.

—Rev. J. L. Woods has returned from his California trip.

—County Clerk McKinney of Douglas county was in the city yesterday.

—Springmeyer the Douglas county rancher was in the city yesterday.

—A high wind struck Carson yesterday and there was every prospect of a big storm.

—The Bulletin when mentioning a big wind, calls it "an atmospheric disturbance of a damaging nature."

—The school entertainment has been postponed until next Tuesday. Admission 50cts. for adults and 25cts. for children.

—The old consumptive elephant which Barnum worked off on a Canada railroad, has brought the showman a return of $10,000, damages.

—Secretary Lamar has refused to dine with the Queen of the Sandwich Islands because she is colored. Now the Queen can decline to meet Lamar because he is such a d—fool.

—The Virginia papers laughed a good deal over Kirman's mine located by the "fumblemeter," but now he has made a rich strike at the point indicated by the instrument.

—While Porter Ashe's lawyers are in Court dilating on his honor and uprightness, he is running about publishing interviews in the papers tending to blacken his wife's character.

—H. C. Martel, of the firm of Willett & Folsom, and interested in the May Queen mine, passed through Carson to Sweetwater yesterday, having been in San Francisco in the interests of the trio.

—When the attorneys in the Bulletin-Chronicle libel suit quit reading the Bulletin editorials and substituted the Bulletin advertisements it was a great relief to the jury, several of which woke up and became quite interested.

—The News Reporter doubts that Bell garbled the letter from the State Prison Commissioners, to him. The APPELL charged Bell two weeks ago with not publishing the letter in full and he has never denied it. We have invited the News Reporter editor to call at the State Capitol and see a copy of the original, but he declines, on the same ground that certain people refused to look through Galileo's telescope. They were not anxious to see.

Stanford's Short Haul.

It now transpires that Leland made his first money by selling two bits' worth of horse radishes, which a man kindly took to market for him six miles away. According to Mr. Stanford's own story the transportation of the vegetables cost him nothing. If the farmer had charged him 20 cents for the short haul of six miles he would have made but little profit. Mr. Stanford ought to remember the fact that he cleared two bits because he took advantage of the benefits of cheap transportation.

The Auction Yesterday.

The auction at Keyser & Elrod's yesterday drew a large crowd. The carriages went first, and some at ridiculously low figures. When the harnesses were put up the bidding was more spirited, the jokes of the auctioneer livening up the sale. The horses were sold last and several people gathered in some very good bargains. Raycraft Bros. were the heaviest purchasers. John Sweeney purchased a pair of horses and was offered $100 for his bargain five minutes afterwards.

To The Ruptured.

Dr. Chas. W. Porterfield, the hernia specialist of Sacramento will remain in the city a week or ten days to treat ruptures by a new process by which he dispenses entirely with the truss. He has been very successful in Virginia City and elsewhere. He is now located at the Arlington.

Order Eastern Star.

There will be a special meeting of Esther Chapter No. 3, Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock for initiatory work. A full attendance is requested. By order of the W. MATRON.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our regular correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, April 29th.—It would be difficult to tell what is going on in Washington just now. Everything and everybody seems to be in a semi-quiescent state, holding itself in reserve apparently for the merry month of May, which will be full of interesting events and people crowded all together. Besides the big drill which is to take place in May, there will be reunions, meetings and conventions, operas, circuses, the Spring races, and indeed something for people of all sorts of tastes and ages and inclinations and degrees of culture and refinement to attend and see or hear.

This city of bronze and marble statues is to have another unveiling on the twelfth of May. The bronze statue of Garfield, which has been contributed by the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, has arrived and has been placed in position. It stands upon a granite pedestal which was erected for it in a small circle at the intersection of First street and Marysville Avenue, and Southwesterly from the Capitol. The pedestal was authorized by act of Congress and $20,000 was appropriated for it. Near the base of the pedestal three life size symbolical figures in bronze rest upon granite brackets. These represent the three types of manhood depicted in Garfield's career, viz, the Student, the Warrior and the Statesman.

The statue is heroic in size, ten feet six inches in height, and weight 5,000 pounds. The pedestal is about eighteen feet in height, giving the head of the statue an elevation of nearly thirty feet. At present it is concealed from public view by being swathed in folds of black cambric and looks very comical as the drapery clings closely and the outlines of the figure are plainly seen. Yesterday it was unveiled while it was being photographed, but it will now remain in its black robe until it is unveiled amid imposing ceremonies.

The inscriptions upon the granite shaft are placed upon three sides, making a new departure in this respect. They are as follows:

Southwest face, James A. Garfield, 1831—1881. On the Southeast face, Major-General, U. S. V., Member of Congress, Senator and President of the United States of America. On the North face, erected by his comrades of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, May 12, 1887.

This makes nineteen out-door memorials to public men, whose deeds or whose virtues have secured for them a place in enduring marble or bronze in the National Capitol. There are now six bronze equestrian statues; Jackson, Washington, Scott, Green, McPherson and Thomas. There are also six bronze pedestrian statues; Rawlins, Farragut, Dupont, Henry, Luther and Garfield. There is one bronze seated; Chief Justice Marshall, one bronze group; Lincoln liberating the slave (called Emancipation), one marble group, two marble statues and one marble shaft, which is the highest in the world. R.

The Beggar Student.

The Opera House was crowded last evening to witness the performance by the German Opera Company, of Millocker's musical gem, "The Beggar Student." Of course the majority of the audience could not understand the dialogue and the German citizens who did, seemed also to enjoy both the dialogue and the fact that they were extracting more solid comfort out of the piece than their American neighbors.

Carl Friese personated the irascible Ollendorf to immense perfection and it was a very happy piece of character acting. Sophie Affenry and Felix Schmitt are of the most charming order and the music of the Opera is sprinkled with the most delicious effects.

Virginia people who attend their performance will enjoy a rare treat.

Art Lovers Attention.

J. B. Monaco, the artist, will leave Carson about the middle of May. Those wishing to have a good crayon or oil portrait made will do well to give their order at once. Studio at Marston's Photograph Gallery. a22 1m —The California papers do a big business now writing up abominable lies one day and contradicting them the next.

PACIFIC COAST ITEMS.

—Santa Rosa is to have another daily paper.

—A rolling-mill and nail factory in the vicinity of Los Angeles are talked of.

—Verona Baldwin proposes to lecture on the injuries she claims to have received at the hand of E. J. Baldwin.

—William Pinkham, the vineyardist, living three miles below St. Helena, committed suicide Wednesday by drowning himself in a vat of wine.

—James T. Rockford, a printer well known all over the coast, put a bullet through one of his lungs at Butte, M. T., one day recently.

—Tuesday, Richard Field, aged 44, a well-to-do farmer near Eugene City, Or., was killed by a tree which he was chopping falling upon him.

—There is a well-defined suspicion that the robbers of the Southern Pacific the other day at Papago can be traced from Albuquerque rather than from other places.

—A few years ago L. C. Tibbets took up a piece of Government land near Riverside. Last week he held an auction sale of eighty-five building lots and realized nearly $27,000 therefrom.

—The people of San Bernardino are incensed that the verdict of the jury in the case of Collanon, who killed George Ferris, was not that of death instead of life imprisonment.

—Advices from the mining camps of Lake Valley, N. M., states that David Burke and Con Ryan, having quarreled over a mining claim, agreed to settle the difficulty by a resort to pistols. Each party fired two shots, which resulted in the killing of Burke, Ryan is under arrest.

—A rich silver mineral strike has been made on the Montana Central line from Helena to Butte, M. T. Several smaller strikes have been made by contractors, but this was a big one. Nearly every foot of the mountains has been taken up in the last twenty years, and claims have been patented.

—The court-martial at Guayamas of Mexican officers and soldiers engaged in the Nogales, A. T., outrage last March has rendered a verdict and General Vega has pronounced the sentence that Colonel Arvizu, Lieutenant Guittierez and citizen Manuel Valenzuela be shot, Sergeant Rochin, Corporal Duran, privates Mendenville, Ruiz and Cassell, as and citizen Rincon were found not guilty. Only twenty-four hours are allowed to appeal to the Supreme military court at the city of Mexico.

A Question of Clothes.

The Carson APPEAL opposes an entertainment in aid of the public schools on the grounds that it would be cheaper for parents to subscribe the money proposed to be raised by means of the entertainment than to dress up their children to take part in the same. Do Carson parents dress their children so poorly that they are ashamed to have them appear before the public in every-day clothes? We think not.—News Reporter.

We are astonished that a newspaper publisher in Nevada would print such nonsense as the above. There isn't a school child in the city of Carson who would think of appearing on the stage at a school exhibition in "every-day clothes," or a child who would think of attending school in school-exhibition clothes.
